Clark-Schrenk.

Miss Alice L. Clark was married to L. J. Schrenk in Mexico, Mo., on Monday evening June 15, 1908.

The wedding was a quiet affair with only relatives and immediate friends present. Rev. Russell Briney formerly pastor of the church in this city now of Lexington, Mo., performed the ceremony. Miss Byrd Locke, a cousin of the bride sang "All for you." After which the bridal party marched in to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March played by Mrs. Fred Morris. An isle was formed by Ruth Clark and Master Sam Locke who carried ropes of flowers twined together.

Next came the groom and Rev. Briney. Then Misses Elva Clark and Bettie Hockaday who were gowned in white.

Then followed little Martha Holt carrying the wedding ring upon a silver plate. The bride came next. She wore a beautiful gown of white chiffon and carried an exquisite bouquet of pink carnations and ferns.

They stood under a bower of flowers and the ceremony was a very impressive one.

Ices and cake were served in the dining room and Mr. and Mrs. Schrenk left later on the Alton Limited for Chicago where they will make their home.

They received many handsome presents of silver, cut glass and china.

Misses Olga and Gusta Schrenk, of Brunswick, Mo., sisters of the groom attended the wedding. Also Mrs. Ella Eddy and Miss Elva Clark of Monroe and Miss Hockaday of Middletown.

Entertained.

Mrs. J. S. Scott and Miss Eleanor entertained a large circle of friends Tuesday afternoon in honor of the bride-to-be, Miss Anna May Boulware. A very pleasing and happy afternoon was spent by those present. The rain was not wet enough to dampen their spirits.

W. L. Ely and Miss Lillian were with Hannibal friends, Tuesday.

Taylor's Musical Speech.

In his maiden speech, Senator Robert Taylor of Tennessee poured this paragraph into the ears of the Senators:

"The railroads are only one string in the harp of a thousand strings upon which our modern Orpheus is playing the triumphal march of federalism. We hear a note from the metallic string of the steel trust, and a long, sweet strain from the sugar trust, and the ding dong of the copper trust, and the ping pong of the leather trust, and the sing song of a thousand other trusts, all of which are the legitimate results of an abnormal tariff system."

Yet, while mentioning an "abnormal tariff system," we wish Senator Taylor had described a normal tariff system. Perhaps he agrees with John Sherman, who said in 1871 that a tariff for revenue only would afford ample protection; but we don't know. For normal means natural. What is a natural tariff system?

The trusts don't want the tariff system—the protective tariff system—disturbed. With few exceptions they are built upon that system. It gives them their power to rob and oppress the people, and it helps them control our National government. In exchange for campaign contributions they have practical control of government.

Like the railroads, the trusts may have some difference in regard to the one thing essential to them: They must control the government or lose their privileges. It should be easy, then, for the people to determine the thing necessary for them to do in order to regain their government. They must abolish every form of privilege. —Jefferson City Democrat.

New Factory.

James Davis, formerly a cigar roller for Maddox and O'Daniel of this city, believing in the future developments of Monroe, the Queen of the Prairies, has returned from Ottumwa, Iowa, after an absence of a year or more and has opened a cigar factory in the Redman block.

Jim is a first class cigar roller, is putting first class stock in his cigars and is a jolly good fellow and we feel that he will make the factory a go. But one word: All things equal, the business men of this city who talk for and fight for home trade ought to remember that the Davis cigars are good ones, home goods, and ought to be pushed by them.

Black Eye.

Dr. A. Montgomery and his horse have had a ruction and the Doctor came out second best. In some manner the horse's bony head came in contact with a thump, with the Doctor's cheek and he first saw stars and then kept a discolored eye as a memento of the fracas.

Little Girl.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Montgomery are rejoicing over a visit from the stork. The bird brought them their first child, a lovely little girl.

GOOD LEGISLATIVE TIMBER.

W. B. Fahy of Ralls County was in Monroe City Tuesday. Mr. Fahy is a candidate for Representative from Ralls and informed us that he will open his campaign at Green Lawn the last of this month. Bill was born and grew to manhood in the Little Kingdom of Ralls, not far from this city. He is a democrat of the Bryan stripe. He was active in the memorable campaign of 1896 and has never for a moment wavered from the Peerless Bryan. Not only was he active in that campaign but all since. He is always active for the rights of the people; is able, fearless and anxious to do all in his power for the uplifting of the Banner of Democracy. In the revising session of 1899 he served as a clerk in the House and as a clerk in the Senate in 1901. His efficient work was recognized and he was promoted to be assistant chief clerk of the Smooth Journal department. His ability was also recognized by him being elected president of the Second Senate and he was one of the few clerks retained to finish up the legislative work after the session adjourned. This experience together with his ability would make him a most valuable man to have in next General Assembly which is to be a revising session. In him the people have a man who will be true to his constituents, a man who has the ability and the energy to accomplish something who will cause the other representatives to know that northeast Missouri in general and Ralls county in particular has a Representative who will do things. His friends in Marion and Monroe counties will watch the contest in Ralls with great interest and wish they could come across.

Nig Shot.

Sunday Rube Gibson and Joe Elligan had a row royal over some onions. It resulted in putting a 22 bullet in Gibson's internal machinery near the belt line. When the shooting was over Elligan made a run for liberty but was caught the next morning by Marshal Stephens and landed in the city jail. The bullet was not located, but the chances are Rube will be on deck again.

Rube is doing fairly well and the shooter is languishing in jail. The state will pay the cost.

Special Announcement.

The Entertainment at Sharpsburg had to be postponed on account of the rain last Saturday. Now it will be held Saturday, June 20th. Everybody please come—from 5 to 10 p. m.

Miss Laura Coontz of Vandalia, and J. W. Evard of Columbia, have been the guests of Dr. John Bell's family.
